THE PRISON QUESTION.

Senator Westerfield's bill providing for the removal of the prison building to Reno, has been printed. The first section makes the Board of State Prison Commissioners, together with the Warden the Building Committee, whose duty it shall be to control and manage the construction and completion of the prison. Section two reads as follows:

In the construction and completion of the said State Prison it shall be the duty of the Building Committee to use exclusively the labor of the State Prison convicts, excepting the necessary guards and labor necessary out of said prison walls; and it is hereby made the duty of the Board of State Prison Commissioners to furnish all the stone, cut or uncut, from the State Prison at Carson as may be required by the Building Committee in the construction of the new State Prison, and to furnish the necessary convict labor from the old State Prison; also the necessary arms, ammunition, clothing, subsistence, iron cells and any other material belonging to the State, and now at said Carson State Prison, which may be necessary in the construction of the new State Prison.

Section five allows any convict who shall well behave himself, and who shall perform regular labor during good health in the construction of the new prison, a credit of 10 days for each day of regular work and good behavior, as a commutation of sentence, and to be deducted from his entire term of penal servitude to which he shall have been sentenced. Section six reads:

The sum of $50,000 is hereby appropriated to carry out the object of this act, to be paid out of any moneys in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated; provided, that a sum not exceeding $25,000 shall be expended during the year 1883, and the balance of said appropriation necessary to be used in completion of said prison, in the year 1884. Any part of this appropriation not necessarily used for the purpose herein mentioned shall revert to the General Fund.

The removal of the prison is a question that should, and no doubt will, be carefully considered. The Legislature should take a position above the petty prejudices of any particular town or locality and give the question careful and intelligent consideration. If the Prison Committees from both branches of the Legislature would take the time and trouble of giving the subject a thorough investigation, and present facts and figure as to the probable cost of such a move and the benefit to be derived from it, it would be of great value to the members in deciding this important question.

We believe that should that course be adopted, the committee would find that by the passage of Senator Westerfield's bill the expense of that institution could be wiped out in two years' time, and instead of being a direct tax upon the people of $50,000 per annum it would be self-sustaining.

The prison, at its present site, will always be a great burden. The stone quarry can be no longer profitably worked—even if there should be a demand for stone—for the quarry is covered by 20 or 25 feet of waste flat rock and dirt which must be shoveled off and carted away before any good material can be procured.

It has been thoroughly demonstrated that the State cannot make the manufactory of boots and shoes profitable, and it seems absolutely necessary to do something with our convicts to make them earn what they eat, or contribute something towards it at least. If the State would put up a temporary wooden building within the walls here and transport say 30 men from Carson to this point early enough this Spring to put in a crop the State's land would produce enough to furnish the institution with all the potatoes, vegetables, hay and grain required—now costing $5,432 99. Besides furnishing the prison, the land will produce, if properly cultivated, potatoes, hay and grain enough to bring in a direct income of $8,000 or $10,000 more per annum, which would reduce the present expenses at least $25,000, which is quite a saving in itself. In the mean time the other convicts could be utilized in constructing the new prison. There are gentlemen who stand ready to contract with the State for from 40 to 50 men and pay a reasonable compensation for their services whenever they are removed to a point where their labor can be profitably used. Those gentlemen contend that the Reno location offers superior advantages over other localities, and that if the State could furnish convict labor at this point they would willingly make the contract.

A better building can be put up here for $35,000 than the present prison. The shoe shop, carpenter shop and pump house could be removed, and the only expense attached to their removal would be freight. The iron gates, cell doors and furniture now in use at Carson can all be transferred and put in place here at a small expense. The expense of police regulation would be much less here than at Carson, for half the number of guards could do the work.

We hope to see the Legislature give this matter careful investigation, and if it is found that it is to the best interest of the State to remove the prison to Reno, do so—regardless of what the people of Carson may say—and on the other hand, if it is found that the present location is the place for it and that the cost of maintaining it is as light there as it can be made here, let it remain—regardless of what Reno's wishes in the matter may be.

POOR ORMSBY.

It is said that the Carson folks are raising a corruption fund to assist them in taking a block of Washoe county into their expensive and tax-burdened county. The taxpayers at the south end will object to leaving the best county in the State where real estate and taxable property of all kinds is constantly increasing and be annexed to a county nearly bankrupt, where real estate is not worth as much into 60 per cent. as it was three years ago. The Tribune advises the people of Ormsby to send out a committee with instructions to visit every farm house and get their signature to a petition requesting the Legislature to change the lines. The old saying that "a drowning man will grasp at a straw" is truly exemplified in this case.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is quite amusing to observe to the people, represented in the Senate and Assembly, wasting their time over questions of such great moment as the question of whether county and State officials shall ride on railroad passes or whether they shall comply with the demand of the conductors and pay their fare. There are two bills now pending. One provides that railroad companies shall give every official elected a "pass," the other makes it a misdemeanor for any official to accept such a favor at the hands of railroad corporations. Big brained men are working hard to earn their per diem by settling this great question, while the "dear people" are anxiously awaiting the result of the deliberations.

A gentleman recently suggested that a good reform in the civil service would be to deprive every man who gets into government employ of his vote. This seems rather harsh and contrary to the spirit of our institutions, but it would prevent navy yard frauds. We do not imagine that office seekers would refuse places on account of not having a vote.

John F. Alexander promises to be a very pains-taking District Attorney. He has made a good beginning, and if he follows the policy adopted, will make the best one this county has ever had.

Grant on Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. The National Republican, to-morrow, will contain an interview with General Grant on the subject of the treaty between the United States and Mexico, and the political and commercial relations of the two countries. The treaty proposes the entry into Mexico of articles under class 73. He laid special stress on articles of machinery, agricultural implements, railway material and vehicles, the manufacture of which in this country for use in Mexico would give employment to thousands of people and open up to enterprising Americans those mines of untold wealth and plantations of vast extent.

Another Horror.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.

The arrival of the steamer City of New York from Australia this morning brings intelligence which adds another to the list of horrors. The Australasian gold mine, at Cresswick, was flooded December 16th by a rush of water from some old workings into which the miners broke. Forty-one men were in the mine, of whom 14 escaped. The remainder were entombed for two days, during which time every effort was made to reach them. When discovered five men were still alive but the remaining 22 were dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.

From the Sydney Herald the following details of the disaster at the Australasian mine, December 12th, is obtained. The accident occurred at 5:30 o'clock a. m. in the drift leading from number two shaft, which unexpectedly broke into the old workings of number one shaft. The water rushed through with great force and in a few minutes the lower levels were flooded. The water rose 30 feet in the shaft. The men employed at this point fled for their lives along a drift to a station where 12 reached the cage and were hoisted to the surface. Twenty-seven men in another part of the new workings were unable to reach the shaft, and the only hope left them was that they might be able to reach and ascend a distant wing leading to the upper levels. The scene on the surface was pitiable. Mothers, wives, children and friends gathered there waiting, almost without hope, for news from below. The pumps were at once started, throwing 44,000 gallons per hour, and all the miners in the district assembled to lend assistance. The body of water was so great that the pumps lowered it very slowly, and a diver was sent for to attempt to penetrate the mine to learn the fate of those below. The project was found to be impracticable. On the afternoon of the 13th the water was only about eight feet in the drift where the men were supposed to be, and an attempt was made to reach them by wading, but the vitiated air drove back the relief party. Several similar attempts were made during the night, and about 7 o'clock on the morning of the 14th two searchers came up the shaft cheering and reported that near the wing of No. 11 they had heard the words, "It's all right, we are all safe." About 6 p. m. word came up the shaft that the lost were found. The news spread like the wind. The whole neighborhood flocked to the shaft. Tanks were provided as carriages on which to raise the men to the surface, and in half an hour J. Manly was brought up alive. He had been caught by going to warn his comrades of danger, when he might have escaped. Soon four others were brought up, all greatly exhausted, but in a fair way to recover. The cage rose again, when the terrible truth was learned that the 22 remaining in the mine had perished. The whole party had been caught in the drift, the water rising so high that only by clinging to timbers could they keep their chins above water. One by one, during 60 hours' struggle, they had dropped off exhausted and drowned in the flood, the strongest only holding out until relief came. The bodies were found lying scattered about the floor of the drift. The victims were interred on the 16th, and the day was observed as a holiday. Liberal subscriptions were taken up for the families of the deceased.

—The thermometer recorded 61 degrees below zero at Butte City, Montana, Saturday morning. The cold was equally intense all over Montana Monday.

—August Nebinger, Postmaster at Steelton, Pa., has been arrested for retaining $1,200 of government money. He says the most of it was spent in the recent elections.

—The New York Herald's Washington correspondent says if Congress fails to pass measures relative to reduction in taxation the President will call an extra session after March 4.

—Congressman Rosecrans of California yesterday introduced a bill empowering journalistic writers to procure copy-rights and receive protection after their articles have been published.

—The trial of the action by Fannie D. Wylie against the Northampton National Bank of Massachusetts was begun yesterday for $10,180, with interest, being the value of eight first mortgage Pacific Railroad bonds, stolen from the bank by burglars in 1876. The plaintiff claims that by a compromise with the thieves the bank recovered $1,500,000 of its property, and the burglars were allowed to retain the bonds.

—Keene's Mortgages.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.

The Stockholder, referring to the $75,000 mortgage on Keene's Newport property, says: It has caused much gossip, but everybody on Wall street borrows money. Vanderbilt has probably borrowed $15,000,000 during the past few months. We are informed on good authority that Keene and two associates have recently invested $2,000,000 in a single enterprise outside of Wall street. Added to that, the street claims that he is now trading in 250,000 shares of stock.

—A Fatal Fall.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.

John A. McVeagh, a comedian and variety actor, met with a fatal accident on Friday by falling down stairs at his residence and sustaining concussion of the brain and a fracture of the skull, from which he died in a few hours.

The Cimbric Disaster.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

The Herald's Hamburg special says: According to the latest information 445 lives were lost in the Cimbric disaster. There were 402 passengers and 94 officers and crew on board. Of these only 56 so far have been rescued. Of six steamers sent out by the Hamburg American Steamboat Company, Saturday night, four have not yet returned, but as the two which returned found nothing there is scarcely any hope left that any more are alive. When the ship Sultan arrived, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the managers of the Hamburg American Co. sent inspectors to see the Captain, and the latter admitted a collision, and said he did not know what ship. "But," he said, "there is a quantity of wreckage on my bow, left by the other ship; examine it." They did so, and by some small enamelled plates, peculiar to vessels of this line, with inscriptions in three languages, they recognized the Cimbric as the unfortunate vessel.

R. C. Lorenz of Frankfurt, one of the rescued, gave me a long account of the terrible scenes he witnessed. Though the officers did their duty nobly they were unable to maintain order. Men women and children were mad with fear. Those who had secured places had a violent struggle to keep the boat from being swamped. The six Indians were driven away by some sailors by axe blows on their heads. Captain Hansen stood till the last moment on the bridge, but could have no control over 500 terror-stricken human beings beneath him.

The Chinese Question.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.

The Treasury department has issued a circular in accordance with the opinion of the Attorney-General to provide for the transportation of Chinese across the continent, en route from the West Indies to China. This circular is regarded here by opponents of the Chinese as a farce. Its provisions can not be evaded without difficulty and Treasury officials recognize the fact. The possibilities of the evasion of the law are such that the Pacific slope representatives and Senators are deliberating upon new legislation to protect the country from the new pest that threatens it. The time of the present session is so short that it is doubtful if any remedial legislation can be had until next Winter.

An Important Suit.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.

The suit of Colonel James Seelover against United States Senator Chaffee of Colorado for $750,000 damages for alleged breach of contract, was on trial to-day. Colonel Seelover claims that he acquired an interest in the Robert E. Lee silver mine of Leadville, conditional upon making certain payments before a date named; that for an interest of three-sixteenths and a similar interest for Senator Jones of Nevada, Senator Chaffee agreed to furnish the required sum, and that he failed to do so, thereby causing plaintiff to lose his option to purchase. Senator Chaffee alleges that his failure to keep the agreement made by him was caused by a discovery that it had been obtained from him by misrepresentations.

Kit Carson's Children.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.

A bill granting a pension to the children of Christopher Carson, late Lieutenant Colonel and Brevet Brigadier General of the United States army, was introduced to-day by Delegate Luna, of New Mexico. It was for the relief of the sons and daughters of the once famous Kit Carson, who are poor, and now live in Las Vegas. Their mother is dead, and the oldest daughter, Tererina Carson Allen, is a widow. The petition for the pension bears the signatures of the most prominent citizens of Las Vegas.

The Star Hunters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.

James F. Gowan and John Carey of Oregon testified in the Star-route trial to-day relative to the route from Canon City to Fort McDermott, Oregon. During Carey's examination a letter from Miner to witness was read, wherein he is directed to purchase the silence of a person in Oregon, who had been sending to the Department protests against the continuance of increased service.

A Protest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.

The Register of the Carson City Land Office has notified the General Land Office that the representatives of the Suro Tunnel Company failed to appear on the day set for hearing the contest against several Virginia City mining companies, involving titles to portions of the Comstock lode. Their protest was consequently dismissed.

More Notes From the Newhall Disaster.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23.

The action of General Sharpe, Governor of the Soldiers' Home, for not complying with the request for aid at the Newhall House disaster in refusing to send the steamer, will be made a matter of official investigation. Congressman Deuster has taken the necessary steps and is assisted by Senator Logan.

Mrs. Sylvester Bleeker, wife of the manager of the Tom Thumb company, died from injuries received at the Newhall disaster. She had tried to escape on a rope made from bed clothing, but lost her hold and fell, dislocating her left shoulder and hip, and breaking her left arm and fracturing her right leg, besides sustaining numerous cuts and bruises. Her remains were taken to Brooklyn.

The search in the remains of the Newhall House was finished last Saturday. Two more charred bodies were found, making 48 of the 177 said to be in the hotel at the time of the fire. There are 176 accounted for, as follows: Identified, 28; not identified, 46; saved, 102; still missing, one—making a total loss of life of 75. On Thursday next there will be a great funeral over the charred remains.

A Recommendation by Grant.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

A Post Washington special says: General Joseph E. Johnson, the ex-Confederate commander, has been recommended by General Grant for the position of District Commissioner here. Johnson has purchased a house and has become a permanent resident of Washington.

Hospital Burned.

BRAINARD, Minn., Jan. 22.

The Northern Pacific Hospital and Old Colony Reception House is burned. Thirty-six patients, many of them bed-ridden, were removed in a dying condition.

Thermometer 40° below zero.

JOTTINGS.

Six cars of beef cattle went west this morning consigned to Brandenstein & Co.

There are 10 patients in the county hospital.

Mum pool is the latest billiard rage in Carson.

Sixteen car loads of beef cattle went west last night.

The Grand Jury have not yet completed their labors.

The weather is warm again and the evenings are beautiful.

Mrs. R. P. Chapin was "surprised" by her friends last evening.

The State is caring for 137 indigent insane patients at this time.

Go to Nasbys and try one of his "Lasso" cigars. They are very fine.

Davis & Son keep a cigar at their Virginia street store that a smoker can enjoy. Try one.

John Sunderland is doing nearly all the business in the boot and shoe line. His stock is a credit to the State.

J. K. Everett is continually receiving the choicest family groceries and never fails to please his customers.

Prof. Feracy's class in dancing will meet again this evening. The Prof. has an excellent school and is a thorough teacher.

The Carson river is getting its back up. It is frozen solid to the bottom, and is now beginning to bulge upward in icy hillocks.

The scarlet fever is raging to an alarming extent at Carson. The death of some little one occurs nearly every day. Reno mothers should be careful of their children.

E. Meyer is doing more to make smokers happy than any man on the coast. If he hears of a new brand of cigars he is sure to get it. Call and try one of his latest importations.

The ladies of the Catholic Church at Carson will hold a fair on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week and bleed the souls of a big slice of their next week's per diem.

A game of foot ball was played last night on the plaza in front of the GAZETTE office. About 40 young men and boys kicked the inflated rubber for an hour or more and seemed to enjoy it.

The presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Jay Rial's combination company is sure to be very largely attended. A great many seats have already been taken. Don't fail to secure seats early.

S. M. Jamison & Co., carry a splendid stock of dry goods, and, notwithstanding the cold weather we have been having for the past ten days, their elegant place has been crowded with customers every day.

Chase & Thyes never fail to make these long, cold evenings pleasant for all who visit their saloon. Good fires, hot drinks and good fellowship greets the visitor. They are a team and know how to make their customers contented.

PERSONALS.

Frank Mosher is sick.

Detective Hickey is in town.

Wm. Thompson, Franktown, is in town.

Antone Gregovich, Pyramid, is at the Palace.

A. L. Nichols, Sacramento, is in town to-day.

C. Derby returned from the Bay this morning.

Hon. H. G. Parker came up from Oakland this morning.

C. C. Wallace came in from Eureka last evening en route to the Capitol.

Charley Gilchrist came in from the south last night en route to San Francisco.

Harry Ross, of the Phoenix and Home Insurance Company, was here last evening.

A. Livingston, Treasurer of Douglas county, was a passenger for San Francisco last night.

General S. H. Mariette, Lake Tahoe, is in town to-day. He says there is but little snow at the lake, and that the weather there has been intensely cold for two weeks past.

Mrs. A. E. Ross came in last evening intending to go to her husband who was on the wrecked train at Tehachapi Pass, and whom she feared was injured. As she was about to board the train a dispatch conveying the glad tidings of her husband's safety caused her to change her mind.

The Governor's Secretary.

Governor Adams only appointed G. W. Merrill his private secretary temporarily. Major Garrard will assume the duties of that position early in March. No better man for the position could have been selected in the State. He was Governor Bradley's Secretary, and his advice to the good old man was always sound and to the point. Much of Bradley's success was due to Major Garrard's thorough knowledge of State affairs.

A Weary Brain at Rest.

Benjamin McIntyre, one of Washoe's earliest residents, died at the Asylum Sunday. He was buried to-day by Reno Lodge, No. 13, F. & A. M., from their hall. His funeral was quite largely attended.

GOLD MOUNTAIN MURDER.

The Country Mouth Full of Lawless Robbers and Murderers. A GAZETTE reporter met Guy Thorpe this morning at Carson and got some items in regard to the scene of the robbery and murder at Silver Peak which are interesting. He says it was John Chadovich's store which was robbed at Silver Peak, and he thinks at Lida Valley instead of Gold Mountain, as he had no store at Gold Mountain. He has private information that the robbers were driven away from Silver Peak without getting into the store or killing anyone. Some Indians were started to track them, but they killed the Indians. It is reported that at Lida Valley or Gold Mountain, whichever it was, the storekeeper, his clerk and two robbers were killed. He heard by private dispatches that as soon as the robbers came everybody took to the brush and the robbers took what they wanted and left. He says the robbers are a band of lawless men that gathered together out in Lincoln and Nye counties and robbed stores, stole horses and lived by plundering small towns. The country all south and east of Hawthorne is full of lawless men who live with squaws and are ready for anything desperate. There are no officers south of Candelaria.

THE COMSTOCK.

A Great Change Wrought in a Short Time. The principal mines on the Comstock lode are now selling lower than ever before. The San Francisco Post made the following compilation of values after the adjournment of Friday's stock and exchange board:

Interesting to the Ladies.

The enterprising dry goods firm of F. Levy & Bro., No. 27 and 29 Virginia street, will put their two main moth stores into one and in order to make room they are now holding a general clearance sale. The prices have been marked down very low and they mean business. This affords an excellent opportunity for families to lay in dress goods, ladies' underclothing, hosiery, etc., at prices never before equalled. Levy Bros. never make a proclamation they do not mean. Go and examine their magnificent stock. Read ad.

The Wine House.

E. Cheilovich & Co. are constantly adding new attractions to their Wine House saloon. The last quirk is a sample window. Mr. Cheilovich is paying special attention to his wholesale business and is securing a splendid trade. He can furnish hotels and saloons with the choicest of wines, liquors and cigars on short notice and at the most reasonable rates. The bar of this well known house is one of the finest on the coast and the cold man can get a hot drink fit for the gods. Call in.

The County Jail.

There are five prisoners in the county jail now. Major Wilson is detained by an indictment found against him for forgery. A Washoe squaw, held on a charge of an assault with intent to do great bodily harm, in attempting to carve up a dusky maiden. The Major and the squaw seem to be happy. Tom Ryan is also "in hawk," serving a 25 days' sentence for disturbing the peace. One Ooady is fed at the county's expense for being drunk and disorderly. Jack Simms, an unsuccessful "vag," completes the list.

The Extent of his Injuries.

Messenger Ross, who was in charge of the car on the train which was held by the robbers at Montillo Saturday night, was shot three times, one bullet striking him on the left forehead and ranging up into his hand; another hitting him in the left hip and just burning the flesh, and the third passed through his vest, tearing his clothes, but not injuring him.

Parker's Petition.

Hon. H. G. Parker has presented a petition to the Senate signed by the people at the south end 12 years ago asking to be annexed to Ormsby. It is a little ancient, but just as good perhaps, as could be obtained.

A NEW FIND.

A Promising Camp in Lincoln County. The Pioche Record contains the following regarding Comet, a mining district, about eight miles west—airline—of Pioche: The claim lately discovered by Jim Burrows is samed the "Redemption," and is considered by all who have been out to see it as a very promising and valuable piece of property. The ledge is about 22 inches in width, and the ore will average by a fair test, $500 in silver. A number of very rich specimens, which assay up in the thousands, have been brought to town. The district is well supplied with wood, there being a vast amount of outpine and cedar on the ground. The formation is lime. The nearest water is Ely spring, located about four miles from the mine. The spring yields between three and four inches of water, and is owned by Burrows, who took it up some two years ago. Burrows has a good title to all this property, and is now perfecting it by having it surveyed, etc. A load of supplies was shipped out to the district Wednesday. To get to the mine with a team is a long and roundabout way, having to travel 20 odd miles; but Judge Clapp, who is familiar with the lay of the land, is now engaged in surveying a new road into the district.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Jay Rial's combination will present Uncle Tom's Cabin at the Nevada Theater next Friday evening. This excellent company presents a highly dramatic version of Mrs. Beecher Stowe's pathetic story with certain realistic new effects. The principal of them are Eliza's escape with her child across the ice on the Ohio River and her pursuit by eight real bloodhounds. The ice is broken, and not only the blocks bob up and down as the fugitive steps upon them, but the men and dogs who pursue her appear to splash in the water. Other and more familiar scenes of realism, such as the slave auction and the brutalities of Legree, together with the more pleasing features of slave life—the comicities of Topsy and the affection of Eva for Uncle Tom—combine to make a most impressive and pathetic play. The box sheet is fast filling up, so secure seats early.

Reno's Loss and Bidwell's Gain.

John Fitzgerald, so long manager for Perkins & White at the Palace Hotel, has severed his connection with that popular house to go into business for himself at Fort Bidwell. Mr. Fitzgerald has many warm friends in Reno who regret to part with him, but none more so than his late employers, Messrs. Perkins and White. Jack will be succeeded at the Palace by W. A. Winer, a gentleman from the northern country, who is said to be well up in hotel management. The people at Bidwell will find Jack a royal good fellow.

Reclaiming Waste Land.

C. G. Dorris, who was the originator of a scheme of bringing a ditch from Pine creek to the sagebrush lands north of Alturas, says the Modoc Independent, is hard at work and has the ditch well under way. He is now engaged in hauling timbers for a flume to carry the waters across Pit river. The ditch will be about seven miles long and will carry water enough to irrigate several thousand acres of land. Should the scheme prove a success it will be of great value to owners of land north of the river and will bring into use a large body of land that is now lying idle.
